

Construction CPM Conference CCC25 Philadelphia 19-22JAN25

Birthplace of a Nation - Birthplace of CPM

Birthplace of ENIAC (1st Electronic Digital Computer) 1945 and  Primavera 1983

Birthplace of James J O'Brien 1929 and Fredric L Plotnick 1952

Birthplace of CPM 1956 (Kelley & Walker) and PMI (Project Management Institute) 1969

Returning to our Home for Better Planned Projects

We rededicate this fifteenth Construction CPM Conference and ninth edition of CPM in Construction Management to the proposition that training in CPM logic networks and scheduling software to support solutions shall have a new birth of freedom - and that construction software of construction professionals, by construction professionals, for construction professionals, shall not perish from the earth

Finding a Home for 2025

Research and Negotiation for our Conference Locations occupies roughly 30% of the effort to bring a proper FRED experience to our Attendees. We have HELD our Speaker / Early Bird rate to $775 since founding in 2011, and negotiated sleeping rooms to $200 inclusive. Events designed to fit YOUR budget.

Save with our Early Early Start rate of $775 until 31may24

Our new Conference host is DoubleTree by HILTON Philadelphia Center City

Four blocks to center at City Hall. Philadelphia is a big (6th most populous of USA) yet small (compact downtown) modern powerhouse yet historical link of NYC to WDC, East to West, and with many international "twins." Travel guide publisher Lonely Planet in 2023 ranked Philadelphia best city in the nation to visit and in 2021 Time Magazine named as one of top 100 places in the world. So BRING THE FAMILY for the long MLK weekend with no lost school days and have a mini-vacation before classes. From Valley Forge to Atlantic City, this is history, and so much more.

Good Transit: Philadelphia International Airport is a hub for American, Delta, Southwest, Spirit, United, others; and only $6,75 terminal to downtown on SEPTA. Also Amtrak for Northeast Corridor, and from/to Chicago and West Coast.

Best Location - Best Food - Best Drinks - Best Entertainment - Best Education - Best Short Vacation

A Program to fit FRED's Hometown

Public Notice by Construction CPM Conference and DRMcNatty:

With the retirement from active support, many firms who have been using Primavera Contract Management (PCM) are shifting to other packages to manage projects. While companies can continue to use PCM, many are choosing to shift to another software tool to maintain current and active support for updates and changes in technology. Oracle's tool identified as this replacement, for example, is Unifier. For most products, there is no simple data migration strategy, and so the question comes up as to how to maintain historical data without continuing to maintain the older system (PCM) permanently. DRMcNatty developed a solution to print the default form from PCM to PDF format, logically stored and named generally by project, document number and title for easy reference.
